Note on the compilation of Roll Call

We have made every attempt to avoid duplicating internees' names. Yet the aim of Roll Call is to be as inclusive as possible. This has proven to be a difficult chore, given the many different ways in which the internees' names were recorded, the movement of internees between camps and the new identity numbers they were assigned in each location, the destruction of most individual prisoners' dockets, and the continuing reluctance of survivors' families to be forthcoming with whatever documentation remains in private hands. When in doubt we have opted to preserve a name on this roster rather than delete anyone, in keeping with one of the purposes of this research paper captured in its subtitle, Lest We Forget.

While our focus was to record the names of Ukrainian and other eastern European civilian internees, rather than those of German or Austrian German prisoners of war, we have included the names of the children and women who were imprisoned alongside their menfolk, irrespective of nationality or citizenship. Similarly, we have provided the aliases used by some internees, the latter being listed as aka

("also known as"). Where information exists about an individual's fate (e.g. escaped) we have added it, even though we are very much aware of just how incomplete these insights into the internees' experiences are, given the above-referenced destruction of so many files of the Office of Internment Operations. We also note that it was not always clear whether a date shown in the surviving documentation referred to a date of imprisonment, release, or parole. We have provided whatever dates are available and, if possible, indicated the meaning of that date for the individual prisoner. In most cases the date refers to a release or parole date. We have also tried to list all of the camps in which an individual was held.

As noted in the Foreword we intend to further develop Roll Call. Survivors, family members or relatives who can provide us with further evidence about the men, women and children who were the unfortunate victims of Canada's first national internment operations are invited to contact us at <http://www.infoukes.com/uccla> or by writing to the Ukrainian Canadian Civil Liberties Association, Suite 277, 3044 Bloor Street West, Toronto, Ontario, Canada, M8X 2Y8.

ROLL CALL: LEST WE FORGET

With the support of the Ukrainian Canadian Civil Liberties Association, Ihor Bardyn (Canada Ukraine Parliamentary Program), and through the good offices of Inky Mark, MP (Dauphin-Swan River) and Myron Momryk, (National Archives of Canada), two researchers, Natalka Yurieva, of Khmelnytsky, Ukraine and Roman Zakaluzny, of Calgary, reviewed the available records of the Office of Internment Operations. [1] The result of their labours during the summer of 1999 is the document entitled Roll Call. It represents a first attempt to provide specific information about the Ukrainians and other Europeans who were imprisoned as “enemy aliens” during Canada’s first national internment operations of 1914-1920. [2]

This register is by no means complete. According to the Officer Commanding the internment operations, Major General Sir William Dillon Otter, a total of 8,579 men, including some women and children, were held in 24 concentration camps set up across Canada. [3] Only 3,138 could be classified as “prisoners of war,” the rest being civilians. Of that remaining 5,441 many were Ukrainians although Poles, Italians, Bulgarians, Turks, Croatians, Serbs, Hungarians, Russians, Jews and Romanians were also interned. Because they had come to Canada from the Austro-Hungarian Empire they were defined as being of “enemy nationality” by The War Measures Act (1914). Even though no evidence of disloyalty on the part of these immigrants, or those who were already Canadian-born British subjects, was ever produced, over 80,000 additional “enemy aliens” were obliged to report regularly to the police while the property and monies of the internees was confiscated. Some of that looted wealth remains in Ottawa’s coffers to this day.

Most of these civilian internees were transported to camps in Canada’s frontier hinterlands, there to do heavy labour to the profit of government and business concerns, often under trying conditions. Those not interned were subjected to restrictions on their freedom of association, speech, and movement. After passage of The War Time Elections Act (1917) they were subjected to the further indignity of being disenfranchised, prompting one Canadian editorialist to observe presciently that:

“It is quite probable that if this proposal becomes law the alleged ‘foreigners’ and hitherto ‘naturalized’ Canadians will bear their reproach meekly, but they will have sown in their hearts the seeds of a bitterness that can never be extirpated. The man whose honour has been mistrusted, and who has been singled out for national humiliation, will remember it and sooner or later it will have to be atoned for.” [4]

Since 1987 members and supporters of the Ukrainian Canadian Civil Liberties Association have requested that the Government of Canada acknowledge this injustice and offer restitution to the community by devoting that portion of the internees’ wealth that was not returned for educational projects designed to remind all Canadians of what Ukrainians and other Europeans endured during this relatively unknown episode in our national history. [5] To date the government has declined to right this historical injustice. [6]

Nevertheless, public interest and support for the Ukrainian Canadian community's positions on this issue has grown considerably since its concerns were first raised. [7] A documentary film, Freedom Had A Price, is available for educators, as is a childrens' book, Silver Threads, that describes the impact of these events on a pioneer family. Recent monographs dealing with Canadian immigration history, as well as educational materials prepared specifically for Canadian Studies teachers, also now incorporate information on the internment operations. Thanks to the work of the Association and its supporters it is very unlikely that this unhappy episode will be as ignored in future as it has been until the recent past. [8]

Many Canadians of Ukrainian or other east-central European heritages have tried to determine whether family members or relatives were among those interned. Quite frequently over the past decade, and particularly since the development of an UCCLA site on the Internet <http://www.infoukes.com/uccla>, inquiries of this sort have been addressed to the Association's attention. Regrettably, no listing of all of the internees remained in the archives, nor did we expect to be able to produce a complete list, making it impossible to oblige those who have tried to find out more about their own families' experiences in Canada. Through this publication we are, at least partially, rectifying this deficit.

Roll Call includes nearly 5,200 internees' names, mined mainly but not exclusively from records preserved at the National Archives of Canada. We generally excluded the names of persons whose surnames appeared to be of German or Austrian German origin, except for the women and children interned at Vernon and Spirit Lake. Spellings of names and birthplaces are also shown as they were listed in the original documents. In many cases these spellings, particularly of the internees' names or birth places, may be incorrect or have been changed since the First World War as a result of the shifting geopolitical borders of east central Europe or, in the case of surnames, by the internees or their descendants themselves. [9] This list is therefore, at best, only a working tool, allowing some Canadians to determine whether members of their families were imprisoned during these internment operations.

We do intend to add to the Roll Call, and, in due course, to make it even more widely available by posting it on our web site. We invite those who have additional information about these or other internees to contact UCCLA. We will add names to Roll Call whenever we receive supporting documentation confirming that an individual was held prisoner in Canada during this period.

Unfortunately, it is unlikely that we will ever produce a complete Roll Call of those caught up in the Canadian internment operations of the First World War period. Nevertheless, we hope that this document reminds all Canadians that these needless measures had a crippling impact on the Ukrainian Canadian community, with consequences that persist to this day.

[5] The requested educational projects are described in the Ukrainian Canadian Restitution Proposal (11 November 1994), posted on the UCCLA web site at www.infoukes.com/uccla/issues/internment. Aside from an official acknowledgement of this injustice, the development of a permanent, federally funded exhibit about Canada's first national internment operations has been proposed as a concrete gesture of reconciliation. Possible venues that have been suggested include the Tea Shoppe building at the Cave & Basin internment camp site in Banff National Park, the Canadian War Museum, or the Canadian Museum of Civilization.

[6] Two parliamentarians, Peter Milliken, MP (Liberal, Kingston and the Islands) and Inky Mark, MP (Reform, Dauphin-Swan River) have risen in the House of Commons, on 27 September 1991 and 10 October 1997 respectively, to call for acknowledgement and redress. When he was leader of the opposition even the Honourable Jean Chrétien wrote, on 8 June 1993, that:

"The Liberal Party understands your concern. As you know, we support your efforts to secure the redress of Ukrainian-Canadians' claims arising from their internment and loss of freedoms during the First World War and interwar period. You can be assured that we will continue to monitor the situation closely and seek to ensure that the government honours its promise."

Inexplicably, this pledge of support has not been honoured by Mr Chrétien or the Liberal Party of Canada, even after the former became Prime Minister of Canada.
